FITTING INSTRUCTIONS.

1.

Strip turf removing all the grass down by an average thickness of 50mm with a motorised turf cutter or a sharp spade. At this stage you can also lay a lean mix concrete around the perimeter for fixing the grass to if you desire.

2.

Using a rake level the area off to natural falls as you don't want humps and bumps before installing the stone base. Where there is no edge to butt into, install either a treated timber edge or metal edging. Lay geotextile weed membrane and install a 50mm layer of 6-10mm sharp builders' sand.

3.

Set and finish perimeter heights at approx. 15mm below the edge system. Wet down the area and compact the sand using either a plank and sledge hammer or a motorised plate compactor.

4.

Once complete you can install an additional layer of the weed membrane. This is an extra layer not to be confused with the must have layer between soil and builders' sand. This should be stretched out and fixed using 4" nails around the perimeters and then trimmed.

6.

Unroll the grass and position ideally running the pile towards the house on back gardens and the reverse on front lawns (ie facing out). When laying the artificial grass, ensure it fits up to the outer perimeters. Where there is an obstacle like a tree or post fold the grass back and decide the shortest route to cut.

Trim the factory edge to ensure that the grass rolls are butted together evenly making sure no fibres are caught underneath. Lay all the rolls in the same direction. Apply adhesive onto jointing tape and spread along join surface. Place roll edge onto tape making sure the fibres do not touch the glue. Lightly pressurize the seam to disperse the adhesive. Ruffle the pile to disguise the joint.
